

Ordinary twist averaging leaves half of every artifact;
projecting onto $\delta = 0$ removes them and keeps the physics

